On their way to church on Thanksgiving, Pilgrims carried a few ears of corn for the Indians they met on the way. The gift was a sign of peace. Thanksgiving Service Here With Ecumenical Accent

Sedalians will pause tomorrow to join the rest of the nation in observing Thanksgiving, eating too much turkey and enjoying a brief time of reflection on the blessings of this land.

The primary religious observance here will be a joint Thanksgiving service to be held at 7:30 p.m. at Broadway Presbyterian Church, sponsored by the Sedalia-Pettis

County Ministers Association.

A special feature of the service will be a combined 50-voice choir composed of members of 10 area churches. The choir, under the direction of Harold Johnston, choir director at Broadway Presbyterian, will sing two anthems, "In God We Trust" and "America the Beautiful." Mrs. Louis Toppel, Jr., will be organist.

Dr. Thomas Hall, pastor of Wesley United Methodist Church, will speak on "Our Master's Thanksgiving." Other participants in the service will be Dr. Garner Odell, pastor of Broadway Presbyterian; Father Charles Pfeiffer of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, and Elder Warner Rice of Sharon Chapel Church.

On the home scene, turkey will still reign supreme, with supermarkets reporting that housewives still prefer the big birds over other meat dishes. Several restaurants will also be serving Thanksgiving specials for those families preferring to make it a day out.

The Thanksgiving holiday begins in the schools today, with students getting a long weekend and not being required back in classes until Monday. Virtually all businesses are expected to be closed, as will government offices.

Four-Party Conference Demanded

PARIS (AP) — The Viet Cong's National Liberation Front insisted today on a four-party Vietnam peace conference with the NLF participating "as an independent party on the same footing" as the United States, North Vietnam and the South Vietnamese government.

NLF spokesman Duong Dinh Thao rejected the U.S.-South Vietnamese statement Tuesday night that Washington and Saigon regarded the Paris conference as a two-sided meeting in which the NLF would be part of North Vietnam's delegation.

Although Thao called for "an enlarged conference of four," one of which would be the South Vietnamese government, he said: "The presence of the Saigon administration at the conference in no way signifies recognition of this administration by the NLF," he added.

Declaring that "the Saigon administration represents no one," he renewed the Viet Cong contention that President Nguyen Van Thieu's government is a U.S. puppet, saying it was "set up by the United States as an instrument to carry out the American policy of aggression."

This was the first reaction from the Communist side to the announcement that Thieu has decided to send a mission to the new round of peace talks.

Program Is Not Enough

PARIS (AP) — Some French businessmen said today President Charles de Gaulle's austerity program to save the franc isn't austere enough, but a Communist complaint indicated opposition from the working man to an estimated $400 million increase in indirect sales taxes.

Financial sources expressed low-key disappointment at the "mildness" of the belt-tightening measures outlined in the National Assembly Tuesday by Premier Maurice Couve de Murville.

Robert Ballanger, the Communist floor leader, charged that the program "threatens the future of the workers." He declared:

"Once again the government gives fiscal aid to business while making the consumers pay 2 billion francs more in value-added taxes," he declared.

Couve de Murville told the National Assembly the 1969 budget deficit will be cut from $2.34 billion to $1.27 billion to strengthen the economy, expand production and protect the franc from the speculation that brought on last week's currency crisis.

He announced cutbacks in spending to account for more than half of the $1.07 billion saving, or about $568 million. These include $80 million from the military budget, $30 million from contributions to special industrial projects; $230 million from subsidies to such money-losing nationalized industries as coal, the railways, gas and power; $128 million from government loans and $100 million from administrative expenses.

The remaining $502 million deficit, the government hopes, will be taken care of by increased production, taxes and service rate hikes, but the premier did not go into details.

Increases in the added-value tax, an indirect sales tax which does not apply to exports, should help to divert production from the domestic to the foreign market and cut down imports by making them more expensive.

Black Panther Leader Sought By Authorities

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Black Panther Eldridge Cleaver has a date with his parole officer to be returned to prison, but friends say he cannot be found.

His wife, Kathleen, said Tuesday Cleaver should resist return "by any means necessary."

He was due to surrender to the parole officer today.

His wife's statement came shortly after U.S. Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall denied a claim that the Negro militant's parole had been revoked because of his political beliefs.

Convicted of attempted murder in Los Angeles in 1958, Cleaver had been paroled in 1966, but was returned behind bars after a shootout with police in which a man was killed in the east bay last April.

Additional forms can be secured from the University of Missouri Extension Centers in Sedalia, Warrensburg or Higginsville, or offices of the Missouri Division of Employment Security in Sedalia or Lexington. All city offices in each community will also have additional copies for distribution if needed.

South Vietnam Will Take Part in Talks

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu said today a South Vietnamese delegation will go to the Paris talks within the next 10 days but he cautioned his nation not to expect peace to come soon. The enemy will fight while he talks, Thieu declared.

He said he will announce the makeup of the delegation in the next few days.

Thieu said that Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky will go to Paris as over-all coordinator of the Saigon delegation, although he will not actually sit in on the negotiating sessions.

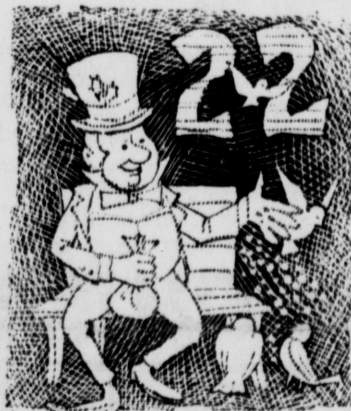

Thieu said that Ky "is the man I rely on to lead the delegation to Paris, but he is not the chief of the delegation. His role will be to coordinate and advise the delegation itself."

Thieu, appearing on television and nationwide radio 12 hours after his government announced it had lifted its boycott of the Paris talks, declared: "Talks with the Communists do not mean peace will be restored soon. They will fight while they are talking and talk while they are fighting."

Thieu said South Vietnam, however, will show to its allies and the enemy "that we have plenty of good will."

He asserted that whether "aggression" ends "depends on Hanoi and their tool"—an obvious reference to the rebel National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong.

Defeat Of Amendment Said Blow

Mayor Ralph Walker Wednesday termed the failure of Constitutional Amendment No. 1 to pass in the Nov. 5 general election, "a real shame — Missouri is one of seven states which is still tied up with this antiquated law."

Amendment No. 1 would have reduced the number of votes required to pass municipal bonds from 66 two-thirds percent to 60 percent. Walker stated that he had encountered opposition to the amendment on the basis that it would "open the doors to municipal irresponsibility."

Walker said that municipalities, by law, could only incur a certain percent of bonded indebtedness, based on the assessed valuation of the city or county.

"This alone would provide a check," Walker said, but "the passage of the amendment would have made things a good deal simpler for cities and counties who have to live with the 66 two-thirds percentage."

Ironically enough, a letter from the Missouri Municipal League congratulating Walker and other municipal officials of the passage of the amendment, was received in the mayor's office last week, when it appeared the amendment had passed. The official canvass from the secretary of state's office Tuesday — three weeks after the election — revealed that the amendment had failed.

The vote was 609,612 against and 599,434 in favor.

Walker said that this news left "a good many municipal officials, including myself, simply flabbergasted."

Home Rule Panel Meeting Tonight

The Sedalia Home Rule Commission will meet tonight in the City Council chambers.

The agenda includes setting up a tentative budget, the passage of by-laws, the appointment of a legal advisor to the commission.

Walker said that the work is "coming along very well."

Tuesday night it had agreed to end its boycott of the Paris talks in return for the right to head the bargaining on South Vietnamese internal matters.

In Paris, a National Liberation Front spokesman said the NLF would insist on going into the four-way talks "as an independent party on the same footing" as the United States, North Vietnam and the South Vietnamese.

Spokesman Duong Dinh Thao rejected the U.S.-South Vietnamese statement that Washington and Saigon regarded the Paris talks as a two-sided meeting in which the NLF would be part of the North Vietnamese team.

The NLF claims it is the true representative of the people of South Vietnam.

Although Thieu said the talks would get under way "in the next few days" U.S. officials in Washington expect the serious conferences will not get going until late in December.

Thieu declared that the Viet

Anti-Poverty Operation In County is Threatened

By DICK STEGING
Democrat-Capitol Staff Writer

A rift which has been quietly developing between the Pettis County Board of Mid-Missouri Community Action Corp., the Pettis County Court, and the director of the Community Action Program, Hardy Cobb, surfaced last week at a special meeting of the MMCAC area board.

At that time the Pettis County Board submitted a list of complaints which have been lodged against both Cobb and varying facets of the MMCAC program in Pettis County.

According to the chairman of the Pettis County Board, Ralph Lee, the list was submitted for "the consideration of the area board, and for whatever action they might take, if any."

Cobb said last week that the results of the meeting left him with two alternatives — to resign or to see the Community Action Program fail to be re-funded.

In a letter dated Oct. 7, to the county board, the Pettis County court stated that "reports from our appointed members of the Pettis County Community Action Corporation and information from many other sources would indicate some needed changes in the Mid-

Missouri CAP staff."

The county court's appointed members are Aaron Haller of Sedalia and Jesse Fairfax, LaMonte.

A list of 19 itemized charges and complaints concerning the operation of the local CAP program were made by the Pettis County Board.

The allegations include: lack of communication with the board, administrative failures, lack of progress on presently funded programs, excessive equipment expenditures, expenditures by the local director which were not

Saigon Police Round Up VC's Political Workers

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese police have arrested 85 Viet Cong political workers in Saigon during a two-week-old roundup to crush an emerging Communist political apparatus in the capital, a highly placed police source said today.

The source said 15 of the 85 "communist cadre" were women and that all of those arrested had criminal or pro-Communist records. Most of them were longtime residents of Saigon, he added.

The roundup began Nov. 11 and is still going on. The source said it began with the arrest of a senior Communist lieutenant who tipped off police to 16 Viet Cong cells within the city.

The citywide hunt also has netted 14 Chinese pistols, a number of mines, grenades and plastic explosives, the source reported.

The South Vietnamese arm of North Vietnam's Communist party is known to be creating a grass-roots government across South Vietnam, apparently in anticipation of an end to the Vietnam war. American intelligence confirms the quasigovernment already exists throughout five provinces and in more than 1,000 villages and hamlets. Communist documents claim the existence of "liberation councils" in two of Saigon's nine precincts, but U.S. officials say the councils exist only on paper.

Only scattered ground fighting was reported in South Vietnam today.

Biggest Jump Yet In Cost of Living

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs jumped six-tenths of one per cent in October for the biggest monthly rise in eight years and increasing 1968's sharpest rate of price hikes in 17 years, the government said today.

The source said 15 of the 85 "communist cadre" were women and that all of those arrested had criminal or pro-Communist records. Most of them were longtime residents of Saigon, he added.

The October increase brought the consumer price index to 122.9. This means it cost $12.29 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The bureau also reported that the sharp rise in prices combined with a small reduction in the average work week, reduced the average purchasing power of the nation's approximately 45 million rank and file workers.

The average gross paycheck last month was $110.67, down 20 cents from September. After taxes, purchasing power of the average paycheck was about the same as a year ago for single workers, and about 1.2 per

Sad Thanksgiving In a Mining Town

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — The families of 78 miners trapped for a week in a burning coal mine face a sad Thanksgiving.

"What have these people got to feast about?" asked Mrs. Robert Friend of Parkersburg, whose brother is among the trapped miners.

"You know how most of these families will be spending Thanksgiving," said one miner. "They'll be right there in the church praying—like they have all along."

Last Wednesday at 5:40 a.m. the first explosion boomed through Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine, just as the 99 men on the midnight shift were about to quit. Twenty-one ran to safety or were pulled from the smoking pits.

At a mid-morning news briefing, the brother of one of the trapped men made a plea that any decision to seal the mine be delayed.

"We haven't given these men enough time," high school principal Tony Megna of Plain City, Ohio, told company spokesman James McCartney. "There have been mines where miners have walked out after 20 or 25 days. I think the sealing should be put off at this time. I'm pleading with you to do that."

Officials were to hold an evaluation meeting later and Megna asked McCartney to relay his message to them.

Megna later told newsmen "the only reason the mine wasn't sealed right away was because of friends and relatives."

There has been no contact, none at all, with any of the other men despite around-the-clock rescue efforts. And another explosion—the 14th in seven days—hit the mine Tuesday just after Consolidation Coal Co. President John Corcoran vowed that the search would continue as long as there was even a remote possibility of finding the men alive.

Company officials termed the eruption at one of the sprawling mine's portals a "major explosion" but would not comment on what effect it might have on further rescue plans.

Comrades of the entombed men—members of United Mine Workers Local 40-42—had turkeys and bags of food—78 of them—ready to distribute to the stricken families.

"It's all we can do for them," said local President Norman Willard.

But coal mining people are proud and Mrs. Frank Matish would not accept the food. "I don't want it. I was a good (money) manager and we don't need it," she said.

The "we" are Mrs. Matish and her 15-year-old son, Jimmy. Her 56-year-old husband is somewhere deep in the smoldering honeycombs of the mine.

Jimmy "wanted to march in the Thanksgiving parade tonight but he didn't know if he should," Mrs. Matish said. Jimmy beats the big bass drum in the nearby Shinnston High School band.

Labor Survey Ready to Begin

A "labor availability questionnaire" will be distributed this weekend to all residents in Benton, Lafayette and Pettis Counties as part of a labor survey being conducted in this area.

Questionnaires will be distributed in local newspapers in the three counties comprising the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission.

The purpose of the survey is to advise industrial prospects regarding the area labor force available. Information obtained will remain confidential.

The survey has received the full endorsement of the Missouri Division of Employment Security, the Show-Me Regional Planning Commission, Lafayette County Development Association, Sedalia Department of Industrial Development and Chambers of Commerce from Johnson, Pettis and Lafayette Counties.

Total participation by area residents in the survey has been urged.

Information from the questionnaires will be compiled and summarized by municipality, county and area. Individual names will not be recorded in the data summary, but information provided will. All information will be data processed and available to local groups and industrial prospects.

Memories Provide Transport to Past

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There is no renewal like memory. No matter how jaded in spirit we may be with the passing moment, by the magic power of recollection we can refresh ourselves in an instant by a mental journey to a time when our world was younger and perhaps fairer of view.

Our lives are but living museums composed of our memories—room after room after room.

Your own museum is pretty well-stocked if you can look back and remember when—

The first thing you did after alighting from a railroad trip was brush the cinders out of your clothing and wash the soot off your face.

You didn't really need an alarm clock to wake up by, because at least one of your neighbors kept chickens and a crowing rooster in his backyard.

Before the suburbs became popular, only poor people lived on the outskirts of town. If your family had money, you lived where the action was—in town.

Most gaffers over 60 years of age carried a buckeye in their pockets to ward off the pangs of "the rheumatiz."

If a back tooth ached, a country dentist didn't bother to treat it. He yanked it out then and there.

Politicians spent most of their campaigns trying to please or placate farmers, because it was the farm vote that decided elections.

You could tell when a lad was beginning to practice shaving with his dad's straight-edge razor—there was usually a bandage on the tip of his nose or the tip of one ear.

In a large family, no matter how hungry the youngsters were, no hand dared reach for the meat platter until Father was seated at the table and had finished saying grace. Then all grabbed at once.

You could travel for days across America by car and never see an auto accident—or the remains of one.

Civilization turned a corner in the small town you lived in on that first epochal Saturday afternoon when there were more automobiles than horses and buggies parked around the courthouse square.

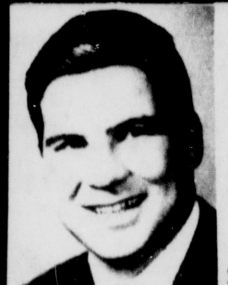

Lovers were sure there would never be a more heart-stirring Henry Busse's rendition of "When Day is Done"—and sure enough, there hasn't been.

Ann Landers

Thanksgiving Day Free of 'Spirits'

Dear Ann Landers: Tomorrow is Thanksgiving and it will be the happiest Thanksgiving my little family has had in 10 years. Why? Because my husband died five weeks ago. He finally drank himself to death.

For once I will sit down with my four children and say grace and there will be peace in the house. No longer will they look at me with terrified eyes and ask why Daddy is screaming and breaking things. No longer will I have to take them to the neighbor's in the middle of the night to protect them against the brutality of a man who behaved like a ferocious animal when the whiskey got to him.

I have always worked to support the family. How much easier it will be with no liquor bills, no court costs, no attorney's fees, no ambulance bills.

It's heavenly to be able to go to sleep at night instead of walking the floor wondering if my husband has passed out in a bar or in some tramp's apartment. You can't imagine the feeling of shame when I got those 3:00 a.m. telephone calls asking me to "come and get him."

Yes, Ann, this Thanksgiving will be my happiest, and I had to tell someone. And you are the only one I dare tell. Thanks for listening. — FREE AT LAST

Dear Free: I'm glad I provided you with an opportunity to express yourself. And now that you have, I hope you will replace the bitterness in your heart with a little compassion.

Dear Ann: When people mistreat animals they can be reported to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. To whom do I report a man who refuses to allow his wife to go to a doctor because he says all doctors are quacks and if they can't find anything wrong they will make up

Takes Her 'Problem' With Her

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Janet Young, 16, who was treated for asthma for nearly five years, left National Jewish Hospital Tuesday night, carrying in a test tube the tiny plastic flower—a lily of the valley—that actually caused her coughing and wheezing.

Two weeks ago surgeons here removed the small bit of plastic from her left bronchus, the part of the windpipe leading to the left lung.

The coughing subsided, the wheezing stopped and when she left the hospital to fly home to her family in Boise, Idaho, she was breathing normally.

The attractive, brown-eyed blonde was referred to National Jewish on Oct. 14.

When she arrived, doctors listened to her breathing and one heard what he described as a "suspicious noise" in the left airway to the lungs. "We suspected that either a tumor or some foreign body was blocking the bronchus," he said.

The doctor then asked Janet if she had swallowed anything. "I said I had swallowed a plastic flower five years ago, but it went straight through," she said.

The doctors theorized it may instead have found its way into an air passage. Surgeons confirmed this and removed the flower.

Garden Club Marks 10th Anniversary

CALIFORNIA — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eitzen was the meeting place Nov. 17 for 10th anniversary celebration of the Twin City Garden Club. Tea was served from 2 to 5 p.m. in the room where the original members first organized and signed the charter of the Twin City Club. Mrs. Eitzen was the charter president.

The serving table, centered with an arrangement of roses and chrysanthemums in porcelain compote, was presided over by Mrs. John Sappington, Mrs. William Todd, Miss Catherine Riner and Mrs. Floyd Oesterly.

A floral arrangement in an antique Georgian silver compote centered the credenza. Harold Bishop designed the centerpiece in honor of Mrs. E. M. Bishop, his mother who has served as president of the club on two occasions. Other rooms were decorated by Mrs. Todd and Mrs. Oesterly.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Perry Wilson and Mrs. Roger Smith. Over 100 persons from the surrounding areas attended the celebration and were welcomed by Mrs. E. M. Bishop, retiring president, and Mrs. Walter Wolfe, president-elect.

Mrs. D. H. Lehman Sr. presided at the guest book. Brian Elliott played an antique music box for the entertainment of the guests.

Generally assisting were Mrs. Walter Wolfe, Mrs. Kenyon Latham, Mrs. A. B. VanSandt, Mrs. Leonard Elliott, Mrs. Don Moore, Mrs. J. D. Branch, and Mrs. Kenneth Vaughan.

Mrs. Scott Hosts Club

Members of the LaMonte Morning Glories met Nov. 20 with Mrs. James Scott for their annual business session.

President, Mrs. Gene Trelow, called the women to order with members reading the club collect in unison.

Roll call was answered by each member introducing a guest or prospective member that had been invited to the meeting.

Profits recognized from the club's participation in the recent Flea Market at Thompson Hills were discussed.

Members also voted on subjects of interest to be pursued in the coming year of leader training lessons. It was announced that four club members will attend the Extension Club luncheon Dec. 6 in Sedalia.

Mrs. James Scott was elected vice-president to replace Mrs. Dale Elwell who has transferred membership.

Mrs. Richard Harmon was welcomed as a new club member. Guests welcomed were Mrs. Gene Nathan, Mrs. George Upton, Mrs. Fred Harding III, and Mrs. Richard Harmon.

Mrs. Wayne Rieckhoff will hostess the Dec. 18 Christmas luncheon. There will be a gift exchange.

Ah soothing sleep — that unpatented antidote that relieves the body, revives the mind and provides playground for the soul. There's no doubt that one among us actually lives so fascinating an existence as we become heroes of in the "other world" of dreams.

Only after the last sheep has sprinted the fence are we removed from managing outer reality. In the land of lollipops, or Lollibridgidas, depending on your point of view, we are no longer subject to the influences of the outside world.

Between my bedsheets I've more than once swam several pool lengths underwater. On occasion in dreamland, I've even been a life guard. How far more flattering to my ego and sense of accomplishment than the embarrassing fact that in my waking hours I become petrified at the prospect of wading into shallow water.

It seems physical prowess is a natural element in the ethereal world. But, even more interesting I've noticed, is that character change we undergo in the world of slumber. Not only do we become less reasonable and less decent in our dreams, but, we paradoxically become more intelligent, wiser, and capable of better judgement.

One of the favorite queries of all philosophy instructors is which is actually man's true existence? That which he thinks he definitely experiences in his waking hours; or, that world he enters behind lowered eyelids?

It is a thought-provoking query and I do plan to resolve the issue eventually. It is enticing to picture myself in the land of dreams as a 24-hour heroine and a mental magnate besides. And yet, I can't help but think how exhausting so much success would be — and the only escape would be more sleep?

Double Life Results In Jail Term

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Catholic priest who authorities say led a double life has been sentenced to two years in prison for failing to file federal tax returns on more than $111,000 income.

The Rev. Robert Daniel Niklibore was sentenced Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge William P. Gray, but the judge said the sentence might be reduced after the priest undergoes a 90-day psychiatric examination.

Gray also granted the clergyman a stay of execution until Jan. 6 so Father Niklibore can attend the opening of a new boy's home near Beaumont.

The priest is director of Boys Town of the Desert, an orphanage near Banning, Calif. The government said he also was known as Robert Drew Rand, a rich electronics executive who lived in a $75,000 home in near-by Palm Springs.

The 37-year-old priest pleaded guilty to not filing tax returns in 1963-65, but denied misappropriating any funds connected with the orphanage, where he also is finance director.

Niklibore said he didn't think he had to file returns for the years in question, but said he now realizes he should have.

U.S. Atty. Matt Byrne said the priest had twice signed deeds as a married man, once for the Palm Springs home he bought as Robert Rand from singer Tony Martin; that he ran hundreds of thousands of dollars through four secret bank accounts, and derived personal income from a building fund of the boys' home.

Poverty

reported to the board and lack of interest by the local director in local anti-poverty programs.

A 68-page answer from Richard Adams, Warrensburg, president of the Mid-Missouri Community Action Corporation board of directors, was provided the county board in rebuttal, supporting Cobb in most cases.

The court, in its letter, said staff leadership did not appear to be satisfactory "in at least two positions, and it is recommended that these people be replaced if the 'War on Poverty' is to become effective in this area."

Lee also said that "there was a definite clash of personalities" involved, but added that "there had been no mishandling of funds in any way."

The Pettis County court, in its letter, said "too much money goes to personnel and too little to assist lower income people to find job opportunities" in the CAP organization.

The court also objected to the "transferring of funds from one project to another to retain staff members who do not appear to be needed," adding that this was "depriving worthy programs of these funds."

Haller, in reference to Adams' reply, told The Democrat that Adams "is too far away from the situation in Pettis County to fully appreciate it."

Fairfax, the other member of the court-appointed team, could not be reached for comment.

The City of Sedalia also has two appointed members of the county board, Henry Salveter and Harry Naugel.

Recent amendments to the federal anti-poverty act require federal organizations such as the CAP, to have local units of government as sponsors.

Haller said that "this is an extremely complicated situation at the moment, and that it would be almost impossible to say what, if anything, is going to come out of it."

Lee said Saturday that letters from the area board have gone out to the Sedalia City Council and to the County Court inviting them to inspect the Pettis County CAP program and see for themselves if the charges are true.

Lee said that Adams had given the court and City Council until Dec. 1 to respond.

What effect the fissure within the anti-poverty agency here could have on the Pettis County program is uncertain at this time. Under existing legislation, however, the program could be taken completely out of Pettis County if there is no local agency of government to sponsor the OEO's operations.

Panamanian Ship's Crewmen Rescued

ROTTERDAM, The Netherlands (AP) — A blazing Panamanian freighter, the 2,062-ton Amalia, was beached about a mile off the coast of Jimindin, the Dutch Marine Information Service said. All 19 crew members were rescued.

The Dutch Press Agency said 1 crewmen were lifted off the burning ship by helicopter, and a tug later rescued the captain and two other men.

Smith waived his preliminary hearing and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff in lieu of $3,000 bond.

Cong and North Vietnamese "have to abandon their aggression and peace will be restored."

Thieu claimed that since the bomb raid, 950 civilians had been wounded through shellings sabotage and terrorism.

U.S. officials said the Saigon delegation, expected to be led by Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, is due to leave for Paris by the end of the week.

But they said the next two to three weeks will be devoted to settling preliminary—and possibly troublesome—problems of seating arrangements and agenda.

Although the four sides—Hanoi, Saigon, the United States and the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong—presumably will be holding joint sessions to work out the preliminaries, U.S. officials said these matters must be settled before "direct and serious negotiations" on ending the war can start.

President Johnson, in Texas for the Thanksgiving holiday, hailed the Saigon agreement as a "new and hopeful phase in the negotiations" which began last May between the United States and Hanoi.

But, he cautioned, "we must expect both hard bargaining and hard fighting in the days ahead."

In Saigon, President Thieu, who had demanded a leadership role in the talks and had objected to dealing directly with the NLF, said South Vietnam's sovereignty had been respected.

The United States spelled out in detail its assurances to South Vietnam in an 850-word statement saying Saigon "will take the lead and be the main spokesman on all matters which are of principal concern to South Vietnam."

Before Saigon was willing to end its boycott it became necessary for the United States to issue publicly the series of assurances.

Sato Wins New Term In Office

By JOHN RODERICK Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Eisaku Sato won a third term as Japan's prime minister today after pledging to gain the early return of Okinawa and the other Ryukyu Islands from the United States.

He told a news conference after the election he plans to form a new "action Cabinet," possibly over the weekend.

In beating back his strongest opposition since taking office in 1964, the 67-year-old Sato captured 249 votes—21 more than he needed to retain the presidency of his conservative Liberal Democratic party and with it the premiership.

His nearest rivals in the voting at a party convention were former Foreign Minister Takeo Miki, with 107 votes, and former party Secretary-General Shigesaburo Maeo, who received 95. One of the 454 votes cast went to former Foreign Minister Aichi-ro Fujiyama and two were invalid.

Japanese business leaders expressed their pleasure at Sato's re-election and urged him to unify the party for new assaults on problems of national security, student unrest and the rising cost of living.

Leftist opposition leaders immediately charged that Sato would join U.S. President-elect Richard M. Nixon in turning Japan into an anti-Communist base in Asia.

Socialist Secretary-General Saburo Eda predicted Sato would be forced out before his term ends because of collaboration with Nixon, and Democratic Socialist party Chairman Eiichi Nishimura warned the prime minister not to yield to pressure from Nixon.

A Communist party spokesman asserted that Sato would reduce Japan to a position inferior to the United States while strengthening Tokyo's military alliance with Washington.

There were no nominating speeches or demonstrations in the Hibya Public Hall in downtown Tokyo, no hippies outside and almost no applause. Voting was by secret ballot on stage in front of the delegates and spectators.

About 50 radical students assembled to march half a mile to the convention site but were dispersed by police before the march began. The students want the U.S.-Japan security treaty scrapped.

Spend Holiday Search For A New Home

LODI, N.J. (AP) — Four orphaned brothers will spend Thanksgiving together with friends while the oldest, 16-year-old Bruce Westbrook, tries to find a way to keep his family under one roof.

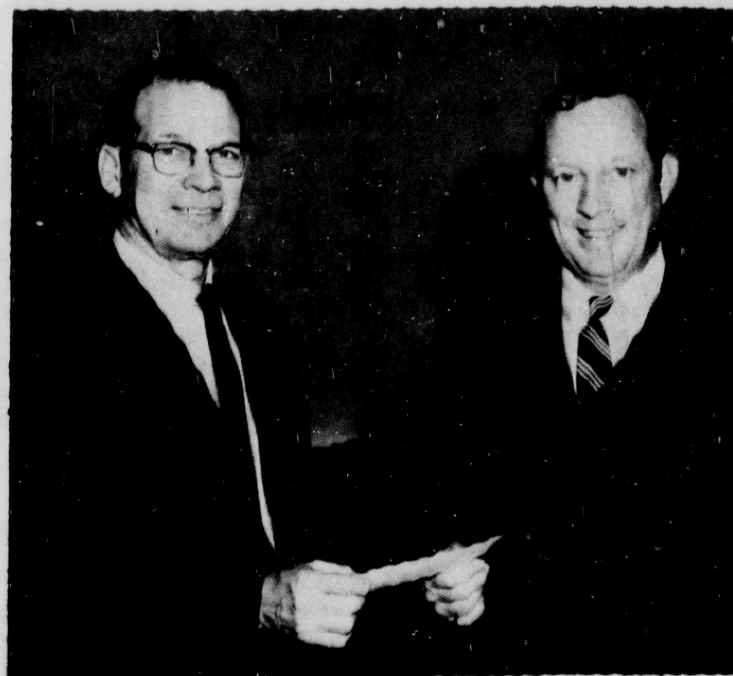

A fire destroyed their trailer home Monday, and Bruce has been living with a friend's family. His brothers, Keith, 13, Brian, 12, and James, 10, have been living with another family.

Bruce vowed Tuesday to find a five- or six-room apartment for himself and his brothers and their grandmother, 78-year-old Mrs. Mary Broderick, of New York City, who has been looking after them daily since his father, Robert Westbrook, died Oct. 22. Their mother died in 1963.

"They are my brothers and they are going to stay with me," Bruce says.

He said he will discuss the family's future with a representative of the Children's Bureau of the Bergen County Welfare office.

However, it is not certain that the law will permit the youth to live with his brothers under such an arrangement. He is under the age required to be their guardian and it is not certain how much income he can provide.

College President Ends a Short Term

By JAMES BOW Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Blaming pressures from trustees, faculty, militant students and "political forces," Robert R. Smith abruptly ended his six-month term as president of embattled San Francisco State College.

Gov. Ronald Reagan and other trustees of California's 19-campus college system unanimously accepted Smith's resignation Tuesday and named Prof. S.I. Hayakawa, internationally known semanticist, as acting president.

Policeman, Civilian Both Killed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A probationary police officer and an unidentified civilian were killed Tuesday night in a gun battle in an apartment building hallway. Two other persons were wounded.

The officer killed was Ronald D. Yoakum, 21, formerly of Hamilton, Mo.

The wounded were Fletcher L. Lewis Jr., whose wife manages the apartments on Kansas City's near East Side, and Yoakum's partner, patrolman Frederic Smith.

Lewis, shot in the chest, is in serious condition, and Smith, shot in the left arm, is reported in satisfactory condition.

Police said a prowler report had been received and that Patrolman William Hynatt, 24, went to investigate and told officers he was disarmed by two men holding knives to his neck.

Mynatt managed to get to a telephone in the building and called for help. Yoakum and Smith went to his aid.

Police said the two officers apparently ran into the two men who had disarmed Mynatt as they were entering the front hallway of the building and the gun battle ensued.

Fletcher was believed shot, police said, when he stepped out of his apartment door as the gun battle erupted.

Securities Agency Is Punished

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today punished Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and ten of its executives and salesmen for disclosing inside information to selected big investors.

The agency action took the form of accepting an offer by Merrill Lynch, the world's largest securities firm, to settle a case involving antifraud provisions of federal securities law. In making the offer and accepting the findings of the SEC, Merrill Lynch, however, did not admit the charges of wrongdoing and agreed to the agency action, it said, solely for the purpose of winding up the case as far as it and its employees are concerned.

Meanwhile, pre-hearing conferences started today in New York City involving 14 mutual funds and large investors alleged by the SEC to have received the information from Merrill Lynch in June 1966. The information had to do with a report that the Douglas Aircraft Co. would show a sharp drop in earnings for the first part of that year and that the outlook for the remainder of 1966 was gloomy.

News Transmitter Unveiled by the AP

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A machine that can transmit news at a speed of 1,000 words a minute was described Monday by E. Blanton Kimbell, research and development manager for the Associated Press.

Speaking at a meeting of Kansas and Missouri Associated Press publishers, Kimbell said the system already has been tested between New York and Miami. The machine, completely noiseless, eliminates the type-writer keys that strike the paper under the old system. Instead, it is a moving nozzle that literally draws each letter with a stream of ink.

Next year the AP will transmit a complete box within 60 seconds after the game ends, and the actual transmission time will be 40 seconds, Kimbell said.

Bell Company Pays the City

Jack Spilker, commercial manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., in Sedalia, presented a draft for $10,638.30 to the city collector on Tuesday. The franchise payment covers the periods July 1, 1968, to July 14, 1968 figured at 5 per cent, and July 15, 1968, to Sept. 30, 1968, figured at 6 per cent. This is the initial payment under a new city ordinance passed last July 15.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — One of Pope Paul's closest advisers declared today that Roman Catholics must obey the Pope's orders even if the orders are wrong.

The statement by Pericle Cardinal Felici, president of the Commission for the Revision of Canon Law, was an unmistakable call for obedience to the Pope's decisions on birth control, priestly celibacy and other issues dividing the church.

It was also the first admission from a high Vatican prelate that the Pontiff might have erred in some of those divisive decisions.

Writing in the Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano for the second time this month, the Italian cardinal asserted:

"Certainly the Superior can err in issuing orders. Though he acts in virtue of power received from God, such power passes through the smallness of human nature which does not always succeed in penetrating the profound design of God. But the possible error of the Superior does not authorize disobedience of the subjects."

On Nov. 7 Cardinal Felici wrote that those who defy the Pope were verging on heresy. Today he said "obedience must be given to those who hold legitimate power."

Under this heading he included all authorities who receive their power under law and said that any superior who does not respect the law under which he has his power may not demand obedience.

But, added the cardinal, "when it is quite clear that the superior commands within the limits of his competence, the subject must only obey, that is support the wish of the superior and carry out his orders, not seeing in the superior the man but rather the legitimate constituted authority."

London Conviction Applies in the U.S.

GREAT BEND, Kan. (AP) — Sheriff Marion Weese has received notice that a Kansan was convicted Oct. 16 in Dunger Court, London, on a charge of drunken driving and that the English court suspended his driver's license six months.

"It was the first notice of this type I can remember in which a conviction in one country can be binding in another as a result of a reciprocal agreement," the sheriff said. "This person will not be able to drive in Kansas until the six months is up."

Weese declined to reveal the man's name.

Volunteers Return To the Classroom

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — For 137 housewives, retired persons, young marrieds — Springfield individuals of all ages and all circumstances — involvement has become a trip back to the classroom.

The 137, a number expected to increase to 145 by January, are part of the Schools Volunteers project.

In the spring of 1965, seven women sponsored by the Church Women United and the American Association of University Women became the first School Volunteers in a pilot project at one school.

By last spring, the number of participants had grown to 35 in 10 schools.

The Springfield school system assumed supervision of the program last summer, naming Mrs. Jane Erb coordinator of volunteer services.

"The teachers are perfectly well qualified," Mrs. Erb explains, "but the volunteers can free the teacher for better work with more children."

That's the idea — freeing teachers from routine, so they may become more effective.

The volunteers serve as lunchroom supervisors, clerical helpers, workbook checkers or piano players for music classes.

Still other volunteers help students with special projects such as plays, bulletin boards, puppet shows or baking gingerbread men.

Perhaps most importantly, many volunteers become listeners or just concerned persons who assist young Johnny with his arithmetic, spelling, reading or vocabulary.

The volunteers include retired men, one working days as a clerical helper and the other assisting in the night school dropout program at a vocational extension center.

Volunteers work a few hours a day, all day, once a week, twice a week — whatever their schedule permits and the schools need.

All must have high school diplomas but need not be college graduates or be certificated since they do no actual teaching.

Mrs. Erb says the kind of person she is looking for "has to be someone who is professional about it and just — well, a good gal."

"You don't want anybody who will help a child with a problem and then go out and talk about it."

And, she says, "There's no pay except the satisfaction. These volunteers say, 'We feel so necessary, so needed, like we're doing something.'"

"We lose our permanent volunteers to teaching sometimes. It's amazing. They must be satisfying a need to do something worthwhile. To a person, they love it."

Mrs. William Sneed, a volunteer of only three weeks, agrees. A nurse, she was interested in working with children with learning disabilities but was asked, because of her special training, to serve in a classroom with physically handicapped youngsters.

"All my children are in school, and I have some free time," Mrs. Sneed explains. "I wanted to do something for someone less fortunate."

Holds 'Shoe-In'

Harold Norton, right, owner of Demand's Shoe Store, presents a check for $440 to Roger Garlich, director of the Children's Therapy Center. The check represents the proceeds from one week's receipts of shoe repair donated by the Nortons to the annual drive of the Center and the Sheltered Workshop. Over 346 persons brought their shoes in for repair during the week of Nov. 18 through the 23. Norton said, "We are very pleased with the response to our project and the response of the people in Sedalia in helping such a worthy cause."

SOCIAL MIXERS

Black and white is one of the winning color combinations for winter fashion. Black coats trimmed in white fur brighten up even a gloomy winter's day, and white-trimmed black dresses make great social mixers.

Houtchens Is Renamed By Hearnes

JEFFERSON CITY — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes today announced the reappointment of Delton L. Houtchens of Clinton as chief of staff of the governor's honorary colonels.

Houtchens, who is Democratic state chairman, was named chief on staff four years ago as the appointments of colonels were being made prior to the first term inauguration of Governor Hearnes.

In that capacity, he supervised the organization of the roster of colonels, their activities in the inaugural ceremonies and their subsequent activities which included the presentation of an official portrait of Missouri's First Lady to remain on permanent display in the Executive Mansion.

Members of the honorary Staff of Colonels were appointed to terms which run concurrently with the official elective term of the governor. Consequently, the issuance of new appointments must be undertaken for the term in office of Governor Hearnes which will begin with his inauguration on Jan. 13, 1969.

Houtchens said a list of the persons appointed as colonels for the coming four year term would be prepared and issued to the public in the near future.

NOTHING NEW

Transporting wounded military patients by air is nothing new. Air ambulances were developed in the United States and Europe as early as 1910. During World War II more than a million wounded men were transported in this way.

Oleary, Learned Named Directors

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John A. O'Leary, Kansas state bank commissioner, and Stanley Learned, retired president of Phillips Petroleum Co., were elected directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City Tuesday.

O'Leary, who is also board chairman of the Peoples State Bank of Luray, Kan., is expected to resign as bank commissioner to accept the post. He would replace Burton L. Lohmuller, board chairman of the First National Bank of Centralia, Kan., who asked not to be nominated again.

Learned, who was renamed to a second term, is a native of Lawrence, Kan. He retired as president of Phillips Petroleum last year.

The two will begin three-year terms Jan. 1.

Predict Ruin For A Studio

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "It's a funny thing about this town," said a veteran MGM studio official. "People are ready to bury you while you're still breathing."

Dire predictions concerning the state of MGM's health have been made because of recent symptoms. Long wracked by struggles for power within the corporation, MGM is finally due for a change of management. Financier Edgar M. Bronfman won control of MGM and a new president is being sought to succeed Robert H. O'Brien.

How the switch in power will affect the Culver City studio is a matter of great concern in the film capital. This concern intensified with the news that the studio had disbanded its casting, makeup and music departments. It seemed like a drastic move for MGM, once the best-staffed studio in Hollywood.

A studio official explained: "MGM is tailoring its operation to fit the production schedule for the coming year. There will be increased activity in independent productions to be released through MGM. The independent producers will be able to select their own personnel to handle casting, music, etc."

"The studio now employs 1,800 full-time employees, compared to 2,000 to 2,500 during peak periods. So you can see the studio is not dead yet."

But it is obviously ailing. MGM's management has still not decided what to do with the sprawling studio which once put forth a feature movie per week. Its huge sound stages remain empty and almost unused. In the past few years television series like "Dr. Kildare" and "The Man From Uncle" kept some of the stages occupied. But MGM had no series on the networks this season.

During his years as president of MGM, O'Brien fostered a plan to sell off the Culver City real estate and create a brand-new studio in the Conejo Valley 40 miles north of Los Angeles. Property was optioned and plans sketched out, but little has been heard about the plan in recent months.

The reason is obvious. MGM has other problems to settle before it can build a new studio.

The problems were visible in the recent financial statement for fiscal 1968. Profits were down a third, from $14,029,000 to $9,409,000. MGM Records dropped from a $2 million profit to a $4 million deficit. Film rentals fell almost $2 million to $21½ million; TV network sales dropped a half-million to $1.2 million. The drop in all divisions was precipitous in the second half of the fiscal year.

Lee Tracy Leaves $2 Million Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Lee Tracy left an estate worth more than $2 million to his wife of 30 years, Helen.

The will of the late actor, who died of cancer last Oct. 18 at age 70, will be filed for probate in Superior Court today. Mike Casey, Tracy's personal manager, disclosed the contents of the will Tuesday.

Tracy left his entire estate—which includes property, a home, an apartment house, cash and large bundles of stocks—to his wife. Upon her death, the remainder of the estate will go to a number of charities.

Car Misses a Sub

HONOLULU (AP) — A car driven by Hitoshi Mogi, 40, ran into the back of a truck Tuesday evening, but he missed the submarine. The truck was hauling a six-ton, 23-foot long research sub.

Mogi was slightly injured, his car badly smashed and the truck dented, police said.

Business Mirror

Aura of Confidence Disguises Failures

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Despite its obvious prosperity, as evidenced by the big bonus checks now being readied for pre-Christmas delivery to workers, the brokerage business today is one beset by many trials and contradictions.

The outer calm, the neat and precise manners, the aura of confidence, hide failures in foresight, in technological know-how, in self-regulation and even in self-identity.

For years, apparently, these defects were hidden from view, even from the sight of those deeply involved. But in recent months no business has had its weaknesses and failures so nakedly revealed.

To the credit of the stock market community, sweat and effort is now being exerted, but it will be a long time before the sediment of procrastination is shoveled away. It was piled high.

The brokerage business for years sought high volume by advertising and promoting the value of participating in American enterprise, but when the volume came many firms hadn't prepared for it. Even the stock exchange ticker proved inadequate.

People In The News

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, accompanied by his two sons, flew here today and said he was going to try and shoot his own Thanksgiving dinner—pheasant, instead of the traditional turkey.

The Humphreys were the guests of James P. Wilmot, president of a Rochester real estate development firm. The group will hunt on Wilmot's private game preserve in the nearby town of Mendon, a press aide said.

Following the hunt, the Humphreys will return to the vice president's home in Waverly, Minn., to celebrate the Thanksgiving holiday.

HONOLULU (AP) — Luci Johnson Nugent fought back tears Tuesday as her husband, Airman 1.C. Patrick J. Nugent, 25, boarded a jet with about 100 other servicemen flying back to Saigon.

"It's been perfect," said the 21-year-old daughter of the President, referring to the six-day reunion with her husband.

"That's an understatement," he replied.

The couple's 17-month-old son, Lyn, was left with babysitters as they said final goodbyes at the governor's lounge at International Airport for about an hour before Nugent's plane left.

Hats Off to Our Flag

The Christmas parade, an impressive one by the way, last Saturday, gave prominence to the American flag on staffs borne by color-bearers.

We were reminded of a poem by Henry Bennett:

Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky;
Hats off!
The flag is passing by.

Men, women and children were massed along the curb lines of the parade route on Ohio and Osage avenues, more perhaps than in many years coming from all parts of the Sedalia trade territory and beyond, participants and spectators alike.

Observable was one habitual albeit unintentional neglect. Neglect is perhaps the most charitable explanation of the public apathy toward the American flag.

Hats off! How few there were as Old Glory passed by.

Others noticed this omission. A student comments that people standing beside her were very polite in conversation with strangers, attentive to their children and enthusiastic about the approaching parade. But to her disbelief as the Flag of our country passed by few men removed their hats in salute, and many women and men alike were oblivious to it as they talked and laughed.

The question is asked whether our Flag is no longer respected. We hear to our horror about persons who burn it, trample it, spit upon it, and now our own people of Central Missouri ignore it.

Many persons are self-conscious about removing their hat or placing their hand over heart when the flag passes by. They become uncomfortably aware they are an object of observation by others. But if everybody would salute the flag then there would be none left to feel ill at ease.

The young patriot of high school age who is disturbed about this quite significantly reasons: 'If our parents and other older persons want us to love our country and respect it, they must demonstrate by action and deed their love, too, of our great nation, the least of which is to give the American flag the respect it so justifiably requires.

LBJ Tells Operators Goodbye

DREW PEARSON and JACK ANDERSON
WASHINGTON — The time has come for the President of the United States to start saying goodbye. Since the White House staff is large, LBJ has arranged to bid goodbye on the installment plan. To bring in the entire staff at one time would completely disrupt the operations of the White House.

Among the first who were called in for a presidential farewell were the White House telephone operators. Since Lyndon Johnson is without doubt the most telephoning President in history, he had an especially warm feeling for them.

When the light flashes on the White House switchboard indicating that the President has picked up his phone, the operators jump. But lately someone else has been using the President's private phone. Already picking up the LBJ habit, grandson Lyn loves to get hold of the telephone keyboard in his grandfather's office and punch it at random.

No other person in the White House — in fact no other person in the United States — would dare manipulate the telephone keyboard of the President. However, little Lyn, not yet aware of his special prerogative, has a wonderful time punching it.

The President, in saying goodbye to the telephone operators, thanked them for their forbearance with Lyn. He also thanked them for handling his telephone calls at all hours of the night and early morning. He has had the habit of getting up at 3 a.m. to check on developments in South Vietnam. And he has called members of his staff as early as 6 a.m. (even earlier on rare occasions).

"I don't know of anyone who could have handled my calls more efficiently and more patiently than you have," the President told the White House operators. "I shall miss you."

The White House operators, headed by Beverly Cole, said they would miss him, too.

— Back to Junketing —
Some congressmen who were extolling the virtues of America in the recent campaign seemed in an awful hurry to get away from America after the election. They are back at their custom of junketing hither and yon at taxpayer expense.

One of the plusher trips of all is taking five Republican and three Democratic members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee to the Far East.

They will visit Japan, Korea, China, Singapore, Malaysia, Indonesia, Australia, and — you guessed it — Hong Kong, that fabulous cut-rate shopping bazaar, which is the biggest stop for all visiting politicians in that part of the world.

Those making the trip are Democrats Edward Roybal of California and L.H. Fountain of North Carolina, and Republicans Ross Allen, Ind., Peter Frelinghuysen, N.J., William Broomfield, Mich.,

It's the Law

Question: May an insurance company escape liability under its automobile policy where the insured untruthfully stated in the application she had not been involved in any previous accidents?

FACTS: Irene Blake was critically injured in a motor car accident while she was a passenger in a car owned and operated by Elsie Jones. The insurance company refused to settle the case and refused to defend the law suit which Irene Blake filed against Elsie Jones because they claimed the insurance policy issued by it was void. In applying for the insurance Elsie Jones signed an application form presented by the agent which answered "no" to inquiry if she had been involved in an accident or had any moving traffic violations during the past three years. It was proved that Elsie had been involved in an accident in Arkansas about 10 months before this one. Elsie contended that she had not read the application; that it had been filled out by the agent and she had signed it. The insurance company's manager testified that had they known about her previous accident they would not have written the insurance policy. Can the company escape paying on this claim?

ANSWER: The answer is "yes." Elsie was legally bound to know the contents of the application she signed whether she read it or not and this is not affected by the fact that she trusted the agent to prepare the application for the policy. Since the company would not have written the insurance policy if they had known of her accident record, this constitutes a material misrepresentation, and the insurance company was authorized to declare the policy void.

Looking Backward

FORTY YEARS AGO

Alumni of Smith-Cotton High School who are attending Central Missouri State Teachers' College at Warrensburg have organized The Sedalia Club. Twenty-five former students here attended and elected the following: President, Jack Wilhite; Vice-President, Marian Allen; Secretary, Maurine Whitel; Treasurer, Harold Williams; Sergeant-at-arms, Raymond Wilder; Reporter, Marguerite Potter.

It was reported last evening that Marshal Smith's cash box and a silver watch was stolen from his desk at the police office. The Bazoo representative was the only man confined there at the time. Draw your own conclusions.

Impasse on Life Span

Like the folks in Kansas City in the song, we seem to have gone about as far as we can go in increasing life expectancy, for the time being anyway.

Between 1900 and 1956, expected life span at birth for all persons increased by over 20 years, say statisticians at Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Since then, it has improved by less than a year.

Average length of life in 1965, last year for which final figures are available, was 70.2 years, the same as it was in 1964 and 1961.

The change in the first half of the century was due in large part to the conquest of the once-dreaded childhood diseases. Their elimination, together with advances in every branch of medicine, had dramatic effects on the average expectation of life.

We now seem to have reached an impasse with respect to the diseases of middle and old age, particularly heart disease and cancer.

Not until these two are vanquished, and until we learn more about the process of aging itself, will there be any breakthrough much beyond the traditional three-score and ten.

A Little Child Shall Lead Them

Only 2 or 3 in the Cabinet Will Be Top Nixon Aides

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

Two or three of Richard Nixon's cabinet choices—but no more—probably will find their way into the highest councils of his government.

The likeliest prospect, of course, is Lt. Gov. Robert Finch of California, friend and long-time aide to Nixon. Finch has indicated publicly that he might take a cabinet post, though not a job on the White House staff.

Earlier intelligence from the Nixon camp suggested that Finch might not take either one, since it was felt that his known political ambitions would best be served by his keeping a close tie to California. At most it was thought he might make his way to Washington via a U.S. Senate seat, in the event Sen. George Murphy should retire.

Recent accounts have stressed that Finch's loyalty to Nixon may now seem paramount in his mind. But the argument can be made sensibly that Finch's long-range ambitions may be better served, in fact, through his being seen again and again in the Nixon limelight in the next four to eight years.

Nixon's regard for Finch is fully documented. Finch in turn is said to believe that he knows Nixon's mind better than most men do.

If the Californian takes a cabinet job, his presence in the Nixon inner circle would be automatic. Moreover, he would be a top candidate for co-ordinator of the new president's domestic affairs program.

It is a commonplace that Nixon himself wants to devote his time heavily to foreign matters. Even if he did not, the experience of recent presidents indicates that events probably would compel this concentration.

An important thing to watch is whether or not Nixon decides to have an "in-house" foreign affairs establishment of the sort managed in recent years by McGeorge Bundy and Walter Rostow.

The President-elect's deep personal interest in the foreign field suggests this relatively new White House operation may be maintained. It serves as collector, sifter and co-ordinator of vital diplomatic and military information. Any chief executive who wants to keep tight personal command in this field needs the instant service it can provide but the ponderous State Department cannot.

There is not the faintest hint yet who might lead such a White House operation if it is to be continued. But it is a good guess that if and when a foreign affairs co-ordinator is chosen he has a strong chance of joining the inner circle very quickly.

To follow this course would not be necessarily to downgrade the new secretary of state, whoever he may be. Indeed, if Nixon's choice for this post proves especially felicitous, he, too, may be drawn into the high councils.

Depending on who they are and how they work out, the new secretaries of Defense and Treasury stand a chance of making it. But recent presidents have tended, in economic affairs, to place increasing personal reliance on the Council of Economic Advisers. Nixon's pick for chairman of CEA could be a crucial sign.

Some experts on White House operations contend the evidence already indicates Nixon intends to exert strong personal control over the budget. From this they read clear proof that the White House will indeed be a supremely dominant command post.

Within a few weeks, some prominent figures will be named to major cabinet posts. But only a handful will be key men. With these exceptions, the real top advisers will be White House aides prominent only in Nixon's own mind.

West opened the king of spades and continued with the ace and deuce. East ruffed and the student playing the hand overuffed. He led a club to dummy's king and noted that East played the eight of diamonds.

The student thought things over, then proceeded to ruff dummy's last spade. Next he pulled West's last trump and played dummy's ace and jack of diamonds.

East was in with the queen and the student showed his hand to go down one trick.

"Where did you dig up that jump to game?" he asked the Professor, who was sitting North. "I had to work out an end play to be sure to go down only one."

"It was a nice end play," said the Professor. "I am glad to see that you have progressed to the point where you can both work end plays and blame your partner for your mistakes. Apart from the fact that your hand was a trifle too weak for a vulnerable three-club bid, your play fell short of the optimum. You should have made your contract."

"I see that the heart finesse was on but how could I avoid the loss of a diamond?" asked the student.

"Easy," said the Professor. "A diamond shift at trick two would have beaten you, but once the third spade was played you had an automatic squeeze for your contract."

"Take the heart finesse. When that wins, cash the ace of diamonds. Then run all your trumps but one. Dummy's last three cards are the spade nine, and the ace and nine of hearts. You hold a trump, a small heart and the 10 of diamonds. Now play your last trump. West has to keep a spade higher than dummy's nine, so he played a heart. You discard dummy's spade. East either must unguard his hearts or make your diamond 10 a winner."

BETTY CANARY

Still Another (Sigh) Birthday

Sooner or later your kids will turn on you. Mine picked dinnertime, the first day of November.

I don't want to be hostile about it, but November 7 happens to be my birthday. Every year.

When they were toddlers, my birthday was a festive occasion for them. We all wore paper hats and I oohed and aaahed over their handmade cards while they bedecked the walls with ice cream and frosting.

Now, when I'd just as soon forget the whole thing, they grow ever and ever more festive.

"How old are you going to be THIS year, mother?" they have maliciously asked me every day this week.

"The same as always," I answer, making a pretty moue. "Younger than Shirley Temple and older than Bardot."

"We're planning a skit for your birthday," Rick, my eldest, informed me. "It's sort of a 'This Is Your Life' thing," he said.

"That's telling YOUR age, Rick," my 12-year-old mumbled through his mashed potatoes. "What I had in mind was a 'Laugh-In.'"

"We'll bake you a cake, mommy," my youngest cried. "And we'll put dozens and dozens of beautiful candles on it. Dozens and dozens and dozens and dozens," she said dreamily.

Why, I wondered, as I hurled her dessert at her, have I read all these books and attended all those meetings just to find out how to communicate with my children when all I really want is for them to shut up?

"Oh, yes, we'll bake a cake for you," my eldest daughter said, agreeing, for the first time in six months, with her sister.

"I'd rather do it myself," I said, in my surliest manner.

"I'll bet she makes one with peanuts because that's the kind you're allergic to," my youngest son said happily to his sister, showing that he, too, could add to the general merriment of Our Dinner Hour.

"It can't be a peanut crumble cake because that wouldn't go with champagne!" Stu reminded me.

"Are we really going to have champagne?" I cooed. "Oh, I knew you were all just teasing me," I said, cutting everybody an extra piece of pie.

"Yes, I thought we could drink it from your slipper," he answered. "Do you think a magnum would fill it?"

Don't worry. I let them know how bitter I was. Told them how they didn't appreciate dear mother who always had a kind word for her little troopers and washed their socks and hunted their lunch money and saved her coffee cans for their despicable school projects. And, they apologized like the good children I always knew them to be. The kindest words were those of my 16-year-old. "Just wait, mother," he said sweetly. "Pretty soon we'll all be older than you."

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Four Tests Available On Thyroid Function

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is meant by high or low metabolism?
A—Metabolism is the continuing process of breaking down and replacing body tissues. When it occurs at a high or accelerated rate, the usual cause is an overactive thyroid.

Q—To determine the condition of one's thyroid, it is necessary to enter the hospital for a metabolism test?

A—Four tests of thyroid function have almost completely supplanted the old basal metabolic rate. They are the protein-bound iodine level of your blood, the photomogram, the radioactive iodine uptake and the triiodothyronine uptake. These tests can be done in an outpatient department.

Q—What can be done for an overactive thyroid?

A—Several drugs that suppress thyroid activity are available but they are useful chiefly to get a patient in good physical condition for surgical removal of a part (usually about six sevenths) of the thyroid since this operation gives the best chance for lasting (not necessarily permanent) improvement.

Q—Should medication be prescribed following a thyroid operation to prevent recurrence?

A—Not routinely. There is a thin dividing line between the removal of too much or too little of the gland. If too much is removed, thyroid extract must be given and, if too little, a thyroid suppressant is required.

Q—I had an operation for an overactive thyroid in December 1967. I took thyroid pills for awhile, then I stopped. Now I have palpitation, I am always sleepy and my vision is blurred. Could this be because I stopped taking the thyroid pills?

A—If you have a deficiency of thyroid hormone, this might account for your drowsiness. On the other hand, an overactive thyroid might cause your palpitation. Neither extreme is characterized by blurred vision. Why not quit guessing and have your doctor find out what is wrong?

Q—I have a toxic thyroid. Is there any danger of cancer?

A—Toxic thyroid does not predispose to cancer.

Q—After a thyroid operation, is it still possible to get pregnant?

A—Yes, unless there is some other reason for a failure to conceive.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q—I went through an employment agency to get my present job. Can I deduct the fees I had to pay them?

A—Yes, employment agency fees are deductible for taxpayers who itemize.

Farmers Fight the AEC

By MICHAEL K. ROBINSON
Associated Press Writer
WESTON, Ill. (AP) — Two years ago high energy physics and big government money coalesced in an obscure farm town 35 expressway miles west of Chicago.

For Chicago and the region around it, the name "Weston" became a symbol of the future. It was here that the Atomic Energy Commission would build the world's largest nuclear accelerator. With it would come new space-age industry, an increase in jobs and demand for services, added prestige for the area's universities, and—not least of all—a housing development boom.

But, as the frost of November 1968 settles onto the fields around Weston, the state government finds itself locked in a struggle for the 6,800-acre site of what is to be the National Accelerator Laboratory.

Farmers and other landowners have fought a bitter rear-guard action against the state's real estate buyers.

Part of the package offered by the state to attract the atom smasher was an agreement to purchase the land then turn it over to the AEC.

Now the AEC is ready to build but only about 2,300 acres, or one third of the parcels that comprise the site, are in government hands.

"We're impatient," says Kennedy Brooks, area manager of the AEC. "We're here to build an accelerator and we want to get going with it."

To get at the property faster, the state is bypassing its private real estate agents to go into local courts with condemnation suits.

The procedure being used gives the government immediate title to the parcel.

But the "quick take," as it is known in real estate argot, forces the government to put up 25 per cent beyond the appraised value of the land—at no interest—until the court determines the sale price.

And that could take years, both sides agree.

Officials of the National Accelerator Laboratory have set up offices in what used to be the village of Weston, which was legally dissolved in June after the last tracts inside the corporate limits were purchased by the state.

Outside the limits though, in the farm country where the vast accelerator will be constructed, nothing is happening.

Chris Feldt, 56, a craggy Illinois farmer whose property is already in the courts, says bluntly:

"They just aren't coming up with enough money."

"My brother, Edwin, and I have been farming this land all our lives. My grandfather farmed this land, and it's been in our family 115 or 120 years."

"The way we figure it, these people are only offering us 50 to 75 per cent of what its worth," he says.

George Serle represents a different kind of property owner. An executive with a large Chicago printing company, he and his wife raise Arabian horses on their property near Weston.

"Sure, I could take their offer and get some sort of a farm dirt cheap 40 or 50 miles west of here," said. "But what good does that do me? I'm 50 years old and that expressway seems to get longer and longer every night."

"Besides," he goes on, "where else am I going to find a limestone base that will take the kind of chemical fertilizer I need to keep up my pasture?"

Chiefs and Oilers Locked In Battle for West Crown

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City, locked in a tense, toe-to-toe scrap for the Western Division championship, and Houston, facing imminent elimination in the Eastern Division, meet here Thursday afternoon in an American Football League game.

The Thanksgiving Day battle will be televised nationally (NBC) at 1:35 p.m., EAST.

It's a "must" situation for both teams—the Chiefs to keep abreast in the Western struggle and the Oilers to keep alive their faint hopes of catching the New York Jets in the East.

Both teams have had 10-day layoffs in which to let injuries mend and to prepare for the game. Both were idle last Sunday.

In their last outings the Chiefs, who are 9-2 for the season, defeated Boston 31-17, while the Oilers, who stand 5-6, whipped Denver 38-17.

"It's down to the point where the team that wants it the most will probably win it," Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said this week of the AFL Western Division race. "We feel we're

Prizes will be awarded for the winner of each division for both men and women. The prizes will be as follows: Mens high three game series: Model 24 Savage rifle-shot gun donated by Osage Thrift Shop and friends; women's high three game series: Filter Queen home sanitation unit donated by David Curry, Bob Stell and Dale Bredwell; singles, one year pass for winner of each division, donated by Mr. Golliday, manager of the Fox Theater; doubles event winners, a Broil-O-Matic broiler to each of the four winners, donated by Rival Manufacturing Company; all events, for men a cardigan sweater donated by Russell Brothers and for women, a pair of shoes and handbag donated by Sedalia Factory Outlet Shoes.

There is also a tournament for Bantam and Junior and Senior bowlers which will be held from 9 a.m. until noon. Individual trophies will be awarded members of winning teams for both boys and girls in each of the two divisions.

As in years past, open bowling will be available the entire day as alleys are available, and during the evening hours.

ready to make a fight of it in the windup."

Kansas City's last three games are with Houston, San Diego and Denver. The Chiefs must win all three to assure themselves of a title tie in the West and a playoff for the divisional championship.

Oakland finishes with Buffalo on Thursday, Denver Dec. 8 and San Diego Dec. 15. San Diego has a game with Denver next Sunday, in addition to the games with Kansas City and Oakland to finish up.

The Chiefs welcomed their layoff to get some of their wounded players healed.

"We needed the rest," Stram said. "It's been a tough season, both physically and mentally. The week off enabled us to regroup and heal our wounds so that we can, hopefully, finish strong."

Buck Buchanan, who broke a toe, and Mike Garrett, who broke a small bone in his hand, both have recovered sufficiently and are expected to see action for the Chiefs Thursday.

Also, wide receiver Otis Taylor has done his best running this week since he was injured early this season. He appears to be healthy again.

The Chiefs will be without defensive back Willie Mitchell and kick return specialist Noland Smith. Mitchell is doubtful because of a sprained ankle, while Smith is not yet off the disabled list—where he was placed after suffering a broken face bone 2½ weeks ago.

Houston, battered all season line Kansas City with injuries, still is limping.

The Oilers lost guard Sonny Bishop, defensive tackle George Rice and linebacker Ronnie Caveness to knee injuries in the Denver game. Rice and Caveness are lost for the season because of injuries.

POLLY'S POINTERS

One Full-length Cover Keeps Dust Off Clothes

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Have you ever taken seldom-worn clothing from the closet and discovered a dust line across the shoulders? Rather than individual covers for each hanger, I bought a piece of wide, inexpensive material the length of my closet, laid it across the top of the rod and fastened it at both ends. No more dusty shoulders for me. —ANN

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I hope someone can tell me how to clean a large, braided rug at home. Has anyone ever dyed one successfully and, if so, how?—MRS. G. G.

DEAR POLLY—I am sure some girls who sew a lot will find my Pointer helpful with those accumulated colors and sizes of spools of thread. I save the foam trays from meat, wash them and dry. I push nails through the bottom to the top (I used the white screwlike type for asbestos siding). After pushing the nails through, I put the spools of thread down over the protruding nails. This makes a neat spool tray. Nails can be put as close together as the size of the spools allows. I find this more convenient than a spool box. I use the spools of one size on one tray, and so on. Trays stay neatly stacked on a shelf. Cardboard can be cut out to fit in the bottom and a sturdier nail used (or a little glue under the nail) if you have larger, heavier spools.—FLORENCE

DEAR POLLY—I have a novel way of keeping my string of beads. I took an old picture frame with a cardboard picture that I sprayed over with black. The frame itself was protected with another piece of cardboard as I sprayed. I added a few spurts of bronze for interest. Twelve pairs of brass-headed tacks were placed at intervals on the board, back in the frame, and an end of a string of beads fastened over one of each pair of nails. They were laid out on the board for a balanced effect before the nails were put in.—THELMA

Ted Kwalick at Home

The All-American Domestic Life

Ira Berkow

NEA Sports Columnist

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. — (NEA) — Every Saturday night after football game parties, Penn State All-American Ted Kwalick comes home and steps over relatives sleeping on his floor.

Ted's relatives tool up from McKees Rocks, Pa., and kin-folk of his wife Carolyn haul sleeping bags from Levittown to erect an indoor campground in the Kwalicks' one-bedroom apartment.

"Once we had 12 sleeping on the floor," said Kwalick, "including my mother, my father, my sister and her boy friend, my brother and his girl friend and an aunt and uncle who had to turn back that night because it was snowing so hard they couldn't drive through the mountains."

Traditionally, to be a football hero meant people sprawled at your feet. Kwalick maintains a whiff of that tradition. But modern times are taking their toll on the campus hero.

"Students nowadays are, well, they're more indifferent to football than I think they used to be," said Kwalick. "They have other things to think about and get involved in. Politics, racial conflicts, the bomb."

"That's fine. I'd just as soon be Ted Kwalick the person than Ted Kwalick the football player. But then it is kind of nice to be somebody rather than nobody."

"Those who still are impressed with football players are the older people. When they went to school, good teams and star players meant something important. Ours is a different generation."

Later, Penn State coach Joe Paterno agreed. "That was an astute observation by Ted," said Paterno. "It's alumni who are always asking to meet Ted. Kids here aren't hero worshippers. They're so much sharper than we were. They take things in stride."

"Students now appreciate the problems of the football player and view him as a person who has to fit in with the academic and social life of the campus. And it's good. Players are treated as human beings who happen to have an area of excellence. This helps give the players balance."

One may quibble about the terms "hero worship" and "admiration," but there is still wide-eyed respect given football players by some students. For example, when Carolyn, a pert, 5-4 redhead, began dating Ted, she told suitors she was sorry but she was busy with Ted Kwalick.

"This really got them," said Carolyn. "They'd say, 'No kidding. Boy, what a great end. What great hands!'"

Ted laughed and leaned his 6-4 frame back in a rocker in their apartment. He extended his long legs on a foot stool. On the wall were paintings by Carolyn, who had been an art education major until daughter Amy came along seven months ago.

A cracking noise from the rocker jolted Ted. "He's so hard on furniture," said Carolyn. "He's broken almost every chair in the place. But he's so careful about other things. He doesn't like to walk the baby because he says he wants to save his legs. He's good with her in the house, though. And it's hard getting him to wash dishes. He says he's saving his hands. But I think he's the greatest anyway."

"After you're married awhile," said Ted, "you learn all the tricks."

Ted returned to football. "A lot of students don't go to games to watch. Every Saturday, kids are carried out of the stadium because they've had one flask too many. This bothers the players a little. But exciting things have happened. Like the time we returned from a road game at 5:30 Sunday morning. About 2,500 students met us and swarmed over the bus. Imagine that."

Ted got up to go to class. He took his letter jacket from the closet. Carolyn was standing on the foot stool. Ted kissed her goodbye. "She always does that," explained Ted, upon questioning. "Makes it easier to reach me."

There it is, the plight of today's campus football hero. Even his wife won't look up to him.

TED KVALICK, All-American, is a family man, too. With wife Carolyn, he talks football with newest rooter, Amy Colleen, and shares a telegram of good luck.

O.J.'s Goal Is Simple

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Football star O.J. Simpson of the Southern California Trojan football team, the landslide winner of the 1968 Heisman Trophy, today reaffirmed that his immediate goals are simple:

He hopes to close his college career on an unbeaten team.

That means, of course, beating Notre Dame here Saturday to wind up the regular season with an unblemished 10-game record, and then dispose of Ohio State in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Commenting on Notre Dame, O.J. observed, "We know they are big and tough. But we won't be sitting around."

Simpson indicated he hadn't gone into the Ohio State matter yet.

But it was obvious this soft-spoken young man has given professional football several thoughts.

A preference where he may play?

"I would like to live in California so I would like to play on a California team," he replied. "I also prefer the NFL so that would mean the Rams or 49ers."

"If it weren't California, my second choice would be New York, Chicago or Dallas."

Simpson was reminded that the Los Angeles Rams recently declared they were interesting in drafting three fine players rather than one great one.

Some one noted that in Simpson the Rams would indeed get three great players but O.J. himself said, "I don't believe everything I hear."

Simpson was asked about the Philadelphia Eagles, winless, who may get first draft crack at him, particularly after his winning college years.

O.J. said he would not be concerned with the won-lost record of a team but again, quit frankly, he confessed, "I don't think I'd like Philadelphia as a place to live in."

Would his Heisman selection add more pressure for the Notre Dame and Ohio State games?

"No, I think all the guys on the team will just have to work harder," he answered, adding, "The Heisman Trophy isn't going to win any games for us."

As he has throughout his two years at Southern Cal, Simpson credits his teammates with his success.

"They contributed to this trophy as much as I did and I take it as a team award," he said.

College Grid Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — Will No. 2 Southern California try harder? Has the Navy become obsolete? What does Houston do for an encore?

The answers will be blown in the wind this weekend, when the last go-round of the college football season brings together traditional foes on a dozen far-flung battlefields.

After a palate-tickling Thanksgiving Day card that includes the annual Texas-Texas A&M shoot-out, the schedule markers will dish out such season-closing Saturday fixtures as Notre Dame-Southern California, Army-Navy and Auburn-Alabama.

In between, keep an eye peeled on Tallahassee, Fla., where point-crazy Houston collides with flinging Florida State Friday night in a game that could throw the scoreboard out of whack.

After 2½ months of scientific experimentation in the grid-picking game, we've come to a conclusion: You can't win 'em all.

The season record is 176-130-15. Wait till next year!

The Picks:

THURSDAY

Texas over Texas A&M: The Longhorns are out to pick Cotton ... and their "Full House" backfield should trump Aggie ace Edd Hargett.

Also: Virginia Tech over VMI; Tulsa over Wichita State; New Mexico State over Louisiana Tech.

FRIDAY NIGHT

Florida State over Houston: The Cougars' 100-point binge against Tulsa is past history. And FSU has a defense to go with sensational Ron Sellers.

SATURDAY

Southern California over Notre Dame: USC's looking for the shortest route back to the top and O.J. Simpson figures to find it ... off tackle.

Army over Navy: The Sailors are still full of fight despite a long, rough voyage. But Army has the cannon ... Chuck Jarvis and Steve Lindell.

Alabama over Auburn: But putting the ball over Auburn's goal line isn't much easier than walking on water.

Florida over Miami: Alabama took the wind out of the Hurricanes last week and the Gators are primed for one big feed after a 5-3-1 crash diet.

Georgia over Georgia Tech: One more big bite for the Bulldogs before they get a sniff of Sugar.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma State: Steve Owens has a full head of steam and the Sooner defense is beginning to sizzle too.

Boston College over Holy Cross: Crusader end Bob Neary catches touchdown passes ... and throws them too. But BC should score more often than Neary.

Arizona over Arizona State: The Wildcats can pounce on WAC title by avenging last year's 47-7 collapse against State.

And, elsewhere: California over Hawaii; Mississippi over Mississippi State; Tennessee over Vanderbilt; Memphis State over Louisville; Baylor over Rice; East Carolina over East Tennessee; Brigham Young over San Jose State; San Diego State over Utah State.

Rick Barry Leads Oaks To Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The story of the American Basketball Association—1968 edition—is rapidly becoming the saga of one man ... Rick Barry.

Barry, the league's top scorer, did it again Tuesday night leading his Oakland Oaks to a 121-108 victory over New Orleans.

In other ABA action, Denver trimmed Dallas 115-109 and Minnesota stopped Kentucky 119-108.

In National Basketball Association play, New York beat Los Angeles 104-100, Baltimore nipped Atlanta 102-99, Detroit walloped San Diego 134-120, Philadelphia defeated Phoenix 126-119 and Seattle shaded Chicago 99-98.

Barry, who led the rival NBA in scoring two years ago, before sitting out one season to play in the ABA, tossed in 35 points as the Oaks won their fifth straight and 14th in 16 starts. The furious getaway has enabled Oakland to move 5½ games ahead of Los Angeles in the Western Division.

Barry, who hit the Oaks first basket of the night, finished with 12 others and a perfect nine-of-nine from the foul line.

Broadway Lanes sponsored the trip.

Cougers Leading On Three Lists

NEW YORK (AP) — The Houston Cougars' point factory, after turning out 100 points last Saturday against Tulsa, stands in fine working order to produce an offensive triple crown—scoring, rushing and total offense.

The Cougars will enter their game against Florida State Saturday night as college football's leader in those three categories, according to statistics released today by the National Collegiate Sports Service.

Houston jumped from fifth to first at 45 points a game, compared to 42.7 for runnerup Arizona State.

Houston's 576.1 rushing-passing yards per game appears good for that crown with Notre Dame, which plays top-ranked Southern California, a distant second at 511.3.

In rushing, the Cougars have rolled up 378.7 yards a game, far ahead of Texas, 343.4.

Cincinnati appears the passing winner with a final 335.8 yards a game, while Arizona holds a narrow 9.4 to 9.8 points allowed lead over Alabama in scoring defense.

Wyoming leads in total defense with a final 206.8 total yards allowed per game, but runnerup Syracuse, 214.7, and Arizona, 216.8, have a chance. Arizona State is tops in rushing defense at 63.3, with Penn State second at 75.6.

New York University fencers have won 16 individual titles in the National Collegiate Athletic Association since 1947. Columbia, its nearest competitor, has won 11.
